Sage Day Princeton Opening January 2016

New Jersey – Princeton – June 16, 2015 – Sage Day recently signed the lease to open a fourth New Jersey location in Princeton, opening its doors in January 2016, to students in grades 7-12. The official date will be released in the fall.

Sage Day currently operates three locations; two high schools in Boonton and Rochelle Park and one lower and middle school in Mahwah.

“For years people have been communicating the need for a Sage presence in central New Jersey and we hope that school districts, students and families can benefit from our new location,” said Executive Director, John Reilly of Sage Day Schools.

Certain students require a smaller environment with therapeutic supports, while still maintaining a strong academic curriculum and that is what Sage offers, Reilly added.

Sage provides individual and group therapy twice weekly and family therapy once weekly.
